WELCOME TO THE 2023 ISPA BANQUET, PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome to the 30th Evening Under the Stars Banquet with the Indiana State Poultry Association! We are thrilled to gather once again to celebrate Hoosier poultry with you, our valued colleagues, representing poultry producers, allied industry, Indiana's Congressional delegation, Indiana's General Assembly, the State of Indiana executive branch and agencies, USDA, and Purdue University. Thank you for joining us!

Throughout the evening, you will have the chance to make new contacts and renew connections with old friends. It is a good time to talk with representatives of Indiana's Congressional delegation and General Assembly and share how Indiana's poultry industry strengthens our communities and the state.

This evening is also an opportunity to say thank you to the many dedicated elected officials and public servants whose ongoing support is essential to nurturing Indiana's flock now and helping it thrive and grow in the future. The collaborative, cooperative relationships amongst Indiana's producers, state and federal agencies, and local, state, and federal elected officials is a valuable asset found in few other states.

Purdue University, Indiana's land grant university, is also well represented this evening. Our long partnership with Purdue University provides poultry industry-ready graduates and opportunities for industry-enhancing research.

Enjoy the good company and the bounty of Indiana poultry!

THE ISPA PROGRAM AND ACTIVITIES

We appreciate your participation in the Indiana State Poultry Association's 2023 Annual Banquet. Your sponsorship strengthens our industry's voice and provides the means to accomplish our numerous ambitious goals. The Indiana State Poultry Association:

- Administers Indiana's National Poultry Improvement Plan (NPIP) of the USDA, working with producers and governmental officials to control and eliminate diseases of poultry. The Indiana State Poultry Association (ISPA) benefits the industry by responding to artificial trade barriers which can reduce export opportunities. The ISPA has been instrumental in the creation of the NPIP Commercial AI program.
- Coordinates with state and federal agencies to provide avian influenza, poultry biosecurity and lab sampling trainings and meetings. The ISPA provides regular avian influenza, NPIP and poultry disease updates to its members.
- Travels across Indiana to you for discussions about your operation. These visits include representatives of the Indiana State Board of Animal Health, Purdue Animal Disease and Diagnostic Lab, Purdue Animal Sciences; as well as Purdue animal science and veterinary students.
- Represents our industry's interests by addressing volumes of federal and state regulations involving disease control, the environment, food safety, processing, well being, and live production.
- Amplifies the poultry industry's voice in Indiana government by initiating and continuing a meaningful dialogue with the members of the Indiana General Assembly and the state's congressional delegation.
- Educates the public by providing a multitude of materials for Ag Days, state and county fairs, Purdue Extension programs, and other events.
- Administers the many programs of Indiana's Turkey Market Development Council to promote turkey and advance the production capabilities of Hoosier producers.
- Through the cooperation of its members, the ISPA has donated over 900,000 eggs and over 75 tons of poultry meat and egg products to Indiana food banks over the past twelve months.

Darling Ingredients is a global leader in animal nutrition solutions. We understand you need a reliable, responsible and professional service provider to handle your inedible meat by-products or remove animal mortalities. For centuries, this material was rendered to make soap. Today, rendering is the most effective and bio-secure solution for the disposal of your operation's inedible animal by-products. Millions of tons of material from landfills is diverted as we recycle it into feed ingredients, consumer and industrial products and renewable fuels.

ISPA POULTRY DONATION EVENT

On Tuesday, November 22, 2022, Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch, Indiana State Department of Agriculture Director Bruce Kettler and the Indiana State Poultry Association recognized the generosity of Indiana's poultry producers at the 75th annual Indiana state poultry recognition event at the Indiana Statehouse. Over the past year, Indiana poultry farmers have donated nearly 100 tons or 200,000 pounds of poultry products to Hoosiers in need.

"I am so proud of the Hoosier poultry producers and the large impact they have on food-insecure Hoosiers," said Lt. Gov. Crouch, who also serves as Indiana's Secretary of Agriculture and Rural Development. "Donating 200,000 pounds of poultry products throughout the year is an incredible feat, and I am grateful I was able to thank them in person today for their generous donations."

For decades, Indiana's poultry producers have been working to address food insecurity in their local communities by providing protein to food banks across the state. Some of the main products that were donated over the course of this year include eggs, chicken, duck and turkey.

The strength of Indiana's poultry sector was also recognized during the ceremony as Indiana is one of the top poultry producing states in the country. According to the USDA National Agriculture Statistics Service, Indiana ranks No. 1 in duck production, No. 2 in egg production, No. 4 in turkey production and is home to high quality broiler chicken production as well.

The poultry industry is a substantial economic driver for the state contributing more than $15 billion in total economic activity. Additionally, this sector employs more than 12,500 Hoosiers.

"Our Hoosier farmers are incredibly generous and quick to give back to their community," said Bruce Kettler, director of the Indiana State Department of Agriculture. "This event highlights their year-round contributions to various food banks and pantries located throughout Indiana and we are grateful to recognize them."

Indiana State Poultry Association (ISPA) members continually give back to their local communities throughout the year. According to ISPA president Becky Joniskan the large poultry donations come from the small communities across Indiana our poultry farming families call home.

"Indiana's bountiful, high quality feed, ample water supply, dedicated farmers, and business climate that understands the needs of agriculture make it an ideal place to raise poultry," said Joniskan. "We pride ourselves on feeding our neighbors, our nation, and, indeed, the world, with wholesome, nutritious poultry products."

Today's items on display were donated to Food Finders Food Bank in Lafayette, IN. This ceremony marks an annual tradition that dates back to the late 1940s. Organized by ISPA, one of the oldest poultry organizations in the nation, it was designed to recognize the strength of Indiana's poultry industry, as well as the annual donations made by its members, who are responsible for more than 95% of the chicken, duck, turkey and eggs produced in Indiana.

TO FEED THE WORLD TOMORROW.

DINNER MUSIC - AUTUMN'S DAWN

Autumn's Dawn is thrilled to be returning to the Indiana State Poultry Association Banquet this year! In past years, you have seen them as a trio, but now they have officially transitioned to a duo made up of Kathleen Moman and Elizabeth Johnson. The girls grew up playing music together in the same music studio and remained friends over the years. In 2013, they officially formed Autumn's Dawn together and have been performing all over the state since!

Kathleen and Elizabeth (better known as Kat and Lizi) were both semi-finalists in the World Piano Competition and boast several other National and State competition titles. Kat plays the piano, flute, guitar, bass and provides vocals for the duo. Lizi plays the piano, cello, violin, banjo and also provides vocals. Both girls enjoy composing and arranging music to fit the needs of their clients. Although the duo has transitioned away from playing as much bluegrass music these days, they still enjoy picking and grinning now and then! The primary focus of the duo is wedding ceremonies and private dinner parties.

In their family lives, both girls are married with several children. The kiddos are often in tow at performances and there are high hopes for the Autumn's Dawn Jrs. to become music lovers as well! To learn more about the girls, to see pictures and videos and to find out about upcoming performances, visit the band's Facebook fanpage or website: www.facebook.com/autumnsdawnmusic or www.autumnsdawn.com
